AZALEAS

AZALEAS (Hardy Evergreen Varieties)

Our Azaleas are exceptionally bushy, heavily budded, well-rounded plants which have been properly pinched back to insure full heads. When considering sizes, please do not confuse our measurements with straggly, shapeless plants which may have a large so-called spread, but are not at all bushy.

AZALEAS (Hardy Evergreen Varieties)

from cuttings

For several years our 2¼-inch bench-grown azaleas have been recognized as "the best stock seen anywhere." Our care of soil preparation, feeding, spraying, pinching, is easily noticed in the superior quality of the stock we produce. Try a box of 100; you will be more than pleased. All 2¼-inch bench-grown azaleas are ready May 15, 1941.
